“ Merry Christmas my dear sweet Scott. I remember last year we all shared Christmas at my house and now all I have are memories. I am grateful for all the pictures i have of you. Watching you smile as you opened each gift will forever be etched in my heart. Your memorial was a moving tribute to everything you wanted. Kendall made sure all your wishes were followed right down to having a Bagpiper "piper" play Braveheart at your service. It was the sendoff you deserved. As your friend Tony said, "you weren't born with a silver spoon in your mouth" but you were born into a family who loved you very much. You always made your home available to anyone who needed a place to stay. You were an amazing man who had so much more to offer the world but it was just not meant to be. God felt he needed you more, selfishly we had to let you go but just know Tweep forever I love you, forever I will pray for you and forever I will carry your memories deep inside my heart...until we meet again. I love you and miss you more....Lolly

“ Today we're all supposed to say our good byes to you. I don't know how to. How do we say good by. I love you so much. I'm so proud of you. I'm so thankful for the time we shared together. They found both of the men involved in your murder. I'm so happy that they will pay for what they've done. I love you so much until we meet again my sweet man. xoxoxo.

“ To one of my best friends Scott Young. Where do I start. I started hanging out with Scott when he was about 13 or so. I remember so many great memories of us together. Like having big parties at the house remember the one where we gathered up all the old Christmas trees in the area and burned a fire 20 feet high and jumping off the roof on to the tree on the side of the house. THAT WAS MOSTLY BO THOUGH. Remember all those days at Gators. Man we had good times there too. All the skateboarding at the house and VANS Skate Park. Most of all I remember just having Scott as a great friend that was always there for his friends and family no matter what. I remember sleeping on his couch many nights right next to him. When I left for the Navy he was the only one who stayed close to me and watched over Shelby while I was away. That really meant allot to me Scott you were a great friend and wonderful person. I can't wait to see you on the other side my friend. Look after all of us up there and especially Kendell. She needs you to give her comfort right now. I never met her but she really loved you and I am so sorry it ended so soon. Sorry I can't be there today for you but you will always be in my heart and my prayers. I know God is very pleased with your life and what you contribute to your afterlife. Scott didn't have a silver spoon in his mouth growing up. Life was hard for him as it was for allot of us, but we make the best of what we have and stay grateful. Scott I LOVE YOU BROTHER and hope you are HAPPY and at PEACE now. Till we meet again buddy REST IN PEACE MY FRIEND. LOVE YA

“ Scott,
Life will never be the same without you here. I miss you so much. I'm so grateful for the time we shared together. You are my best friend, your my rock, your my shoulder to cry on, your my Fiance. The Love of my life. I remember your smile, your laugh, your embrace. We spent every moment together. We worked together, we lived together, we were always at each others side. The night that you were taken from us flows through my mind. The pain is so strong. I can't breath. Please be there with me to make me strong. You Loved me more then anyone. You showed me true love. It will never be forgotten. You treated me like a queen, and made sure that I knew you loved me. We talked about everything. I knew with just one look what you were thinking. Nothing was a secret I love you more then life it's self.

“ How do I begin to explain the emptiness I feel inside since the loss of my "tweep" ? This was a nickname given to Scott by his Mom but it was a nickname I have found myself using over the years. I have the nickname Lolly because of you....when you were little you couldn't say my name, Sally so you started calling me Lolly....it's a nickname that never left....forever I will carry this name because of you. It is still so hard to imagine that I will never hear your voice, see your smile or read the wonderful text messages you would send to me. I am grateful however that I have saved all the ones you sent to me over the past several months. You never, ever sent me a message that was disrespectful or out of line. You always told me how much you loved me and what I meant to you. Scott, how can I put in this small place all the memories of our lives together? There are so many that flood my mind. I remember when you and Travis were small we (your Mom, Chris, Christy and you two) went on vacation to the mountains. Just Susie, her boys, Lolly and her two kids in your Mom's jeep Cherokee. We rented a cabin in the woods and had a blast. We went white water rafting, went to Sliding Rock, visited Chimney Rock but most of all Susie and I shared in the only trip we ever took alone with our kids. I remember going to watch you as you would race on your BMX bikes. All the times you set up ramps in your driveway so you could learn to skateboard like Tony Hawk....such memories. We shared Thanksgiving, birthdays and Christmas holidays. Christmas 2010 was a grand time for us all. We had a house full with Jimmy, Pepa, Uncle Rusty, Christy, Ashley, Stella, Nick, Kristen, Ashlyn, Sarge, Chris, Golden, Christian, Ciara, Brianna, Bryce, Eithen, Cody, Kiwi, you, Kendall, Travis and Krissy. We had a huge breakfast and then spent hours together opening presents and eating again at lunch. I am so grateful for that day because this year will be much different with the loss of Pepa on June 25, 2011 and now you on Dec. 7, 2011. I am grateful that I am such a picture freak because I have lots of pictures depicting happy times we all shared. You and Kendall came to family birthday celebrations. Who knew there would be no more when pictures captured us all laughing and sharing stories about each other. To look at them now just burns a hole in my heart. I am saddened for Kendall and her daughter, Keirsa who no longer have your strong arms to hold them, no longer have your smile to calm them when they are sad and will never hear your laughter or the sweet melody of your voice. Kendall will forever be scarred as she relives the events that took your life at such a young age. She is the one person who held you every night and assured you over and over again that she would stand beside you and never leave your side. I will pray for her as she tries to cope with being left behind. I am sorry you won't be here to share our joy in the birth of your second cousin, Abriella Michelle Rubini who is due May 7, 2012. I am mad that your life was taken so tragically and mad you won't be here for Christmas. I am speaking selfishly because I want you here. I don't want to feel the pain in my heart that appeared the day I found out your life was snuffed out in an instant. However I am happy you are with your Mom. I know the HUGE hole her death left in your heart. I remember all the talks we had and how you kept asking me, "Lolly when will this pain go away?" As I told you, "only time tweep, only time." Now I have to follow my own advice and give my heart time to heal. Saturday, December 17, 2011 is the day we all come together in your honor to talk about you, laugh about the crazy things you did throughout your life but most of all to say good bye to a young man who captured the hearts of all he met, you would do anything for anyone and to give you service you deserve. It will be everything you told Kendall you wanted... all of your wishes except the one where you want to be spread out in the ocean in the same area as your Mom. That too, will come in ti “ Scott, your life was taken away too soon, you had lots of things left to do on this earth but GOD needed a beautiful angel, Kendall and the rest of the people's hearts that you touched are hurting right now, but as time goes by and we remember the joy and the memories that you left behind it might ease the pain. R.I.P Scott..ps Lolie is really really hurting because of your absence.....
