

Mark Gembecki

September 25, 1957 - August 30, 2017

Mark Gembecki of Casselberry, Florida, passed away on Wednesday, August 30th, 2017 at 59 years old. Born in Queens, New York, to Imogene and George Gembecki, the family, with brother John, moved to Altamonte Springs, Florida. Mark was a charming man who embraced life to the fullest with humor and wit. He enjoyed golf, boating, traveling, football (Go Knights!) and spending time with family and friends. Most significantly, he was always willing to help others. Raised in the Catholic faith, attending St Mary Magdalen and Bishop Moore, he learned the importance of serving his community. With the HVAC knowledge and skill learned from his father, Mark and wife, Barbara, opened Gembecki Mechanical Services in 1991. His customers and employees respected him for his dedication, fairness and honesty.

Mark is survived by his wife, Barbara, daughter and husband, Kristin and Jason Dahlman, son and wife, Blake and Kelsey Gembecki, grandchildren, Parker and Jackson Dahlman, brother and wife, John and Deb Gembecki, niece and husband Jennifer and Mark Creaser, nephew Eric Gembecki.

A celebration of life will be held at Deer Run Country Club in Casselberry, Florida, open from 5pm-9pm. In lieu of flowers donations can be made in support of the Humane Society.

“ I first met Mark in the mid 70's when he came to the A/C meetings with his dad George. Mark later started his own company and helped many young men learn the trade. His customers and employees respected him for his dedication, fairness, honesty and business savvy. We will all miss him and his great smile. We have lost a great friend.
