“ I loved your kind, generous spirit, slow to anger and patient. Anytime I walked through the door during a visit, it was always about me...where I had been, if I enjoyed my walk, or talking about anything, a recipe, a memory you had about your children whom you loved so dearly, or a warm memory of your mother or sister or husband. I wish I had met you long ago, but thank the good Lord that I shared some of your life. You raised a wonderful son whom I love more than life itself. I will miss you. Thanks for welcoming me so lovingly into your family. Jesus said that it was time for you to go home to Him and to Alice and your sisters and to all whom you loved while on earth. Until we meet again, Rest in Peace, Mrs. McGovern, while I remain, your Daughter-in-law, Karen. We will celebrate your life...
