I love you honey. Your Mom was such a fireball! I love how much you all supported each other and how every day got better. She is hanging out with all her old friends and family and smiling over you for being you! I loved that one of your Mom's last posts was her telling you how proud of you she is!

Sandy and Susan, I'm just seeing this on January 29th. What a wonderful tribute to Anita. Friendships do last forever. I heard her mention her family members all these years and am seeing their pictures as a group for the first time. What an honor. May they be comforted by their memories. All of us will.
