“ Art changed my life, and made retirement exciting. Late in 1999, anticipating retirement in a few years, I wandered into the clock repair class at Winter Park Tech, having no knowledge nor experience - not even a small clock collection - but a desire to participate in a mechanical activity that I would not outgrow when age ultimately reduced lifting capabilities and strength. There was an immediate welcome from the tall, slender instructor who informed me that a new class would begin in January. Thanks to the friendship and the diversity of skills provided by Art, my education began that January and continues. The relationship went far beyond teacher/student, and the skills he imparted and encouraged ranged way beyond the repair of timepieces. His love of tools and equipment and his ability to apply, modify and adapt them became a great inspiration. I will certainly miss Art, but just a certainly I will have him always in my memory when I take on tasks that appear to be beyond my skill levels - because he told me to. For the personal attention, the encouragement and the confidence, thank you Art. You have earned your rest, and can share it with Joyce.

Art was one of the kindest gentleman I have ever met. He was Always available to substitute teach at our Winter Park Tech Watch and Clock training program at Winter Park Tech. He will be missed by me and many.
