“ My friend, my car buddy, we've known each other since elementary school, played football together, ran around together, ate stolen Pantry Pride danish's on the bus together, I got my Camaro then you got yours, then the BMW's! I wouldn't see you for months or years and when we got together it was like a matter of minutes had gone by!

You told me you were getting married and I backed off and let you experience that part of life, every man needs to experience the love of a wife and marriage, and it was your turn, as you and I know it can be a difficult road! I wish I would have bothered you more and we would have kept in touch! I have always wondered where you were and what was going on, I always figured one day I'd get a call or you'd find where I was living and some unique car would pull up in front of my house! I'll miss you buddy, hope to see you again one day, go find my dad, he'll be happy to see you! Love you man!
