“ Chase may You Rest in the Most Comforting Peace of God's Hands. You are the most precious, loved Child and had so much more to live in Your Life. I wish You could have survived Life's difficulties to have Grown with each of Us. Life is So very Tough, There are no promises...but I know You deserved so much more time. God must have had another purpose for You, and I think I can Imagine that and sadly accept that... You were So loved and You are So Special and Precious, I will struggle to accept that You are in a better place with more Love, more Peace, and more acceptance and Understanding. Where will all see You Again Someday. Until that day, may You Rest In Peace In God's Hands, until We meet Again. Love to You Blessed Child. Lulu xoxo

“Chase would always forgive people for the wrong they do to him. He always made me smile and laugh when I said I couldn't. He told me "Don't let people walk all over you, you don't know how dirty their shoes are". I will miss you Chase. <3

“ I had a classes in elco high school with Chase. From the start we were freinds. Playing nerdy video games. To talking about the hours of time we put into watching anime. We were acually supposed to hangout before he left but we never got the chance. The hole dug into me emotionally for his parents is unexplainable. I just can't believe it. The deepest of sympathy to his family and freinds.

“ I remember a sweet little boy that bought me a school bus for Christmas. A kid who thought he knew his way home til his dad drive in circles around the neighborhood until we all wanted to throw up in the car. A young man who told my daughter she is pretty but her singing sucked. A kid who laughed so hard he cried when we wrapped up a trampoline and told Alicia it was a life size big bird. I remember beautiful brown eyes trying to do the puppy face to get his dad to let him have candy. And I remember the best hugs a kid could give. Chase was a part of my family and we love him and will always miss him
