“ It’s so crazy how this was our last picture together ma I miss you so much you were the best to us. I remember when we use to get on your nerves because the school would always called you about us misbehaving and you handled every situation right to were we stopped acting out for a couple of weeks because the teachers would say don’t let me call your mom 🤔😬. No matter what happens from here on out lk your going to be there every step of the way helping us and protecting each one of us. You were so nice to everyone I remember the Popeyes days and circle K days they all loved you people use to come in and be like “Hey that’s concha”. I love you and miss you so much ma to infinity and beyond my queen it still doesn’t feel real and I don’t think it would ever feel real I love you so much ma 😬❤️🙌

“ Forever my best friend, I wouldn't trade the memories I have with you for anything I miss you so much, you had a huge impact on my life. You took me in as your own, helped me, fed me, took me out, and loved me as your own. I'll always miss helping you walk, talking to you since I told you everything , doing your hair and helping you cook. I will never forget how I was always all over you and you always saying “monicaaa” “Monica get off of me”. It doesn't feel real, just a week ago I was in your bed bothering both you and angel. I still remember the exact time and place when you gave me this bag and the smile on your face and when I had it with me everywhere I went. Thank you for everything concha I love you.

“ Oh my wonderful Tia, you welcomed me into your home with open arms, you always assured me that I was wanted and needed. I helped with as much as I can. Little did you know I was the one who needed you. You became my best friend from the long talks we would have together on the couch, to us watching our tv shows together while either eating dinner or us drinking our polar pop. You loved to laugh and I know the crazy things I said would do just that. I won't forget the meaningful talks And our chisme talks.. within that short amount of time you became my best friend. I will continue to tease the girls and say I'm your favorite(you know i am) your smile, laugh will forever be etched in my heart. I still remember you called and when we hung up, you said I love you Eva and that touched my heart because I would be the one to Say it first. Don't worry though Tia we will still have our dinner date to red lobster coming up. I'll make sure I get you that edible arrangement you always wanted. Thank You for being You!!! Words can't explain the amount i miss and love you!!!

“ Mommy was such a strong women! Had her first born at 16, still finished high school, still went on to college with her second otw and work hard to get everything she had. Ever since I was little I always remember mommy always saying how she hates moving house to house always renting. Her biggest life goal was to buy her home and she did just that! I love you Ma and you were a great role model to look up to ❤️ #longliveconcha

“ Although not by blood I’ve had the privilege to become your family and cousin over the last 13 years, being one of the first to make me so comfortable in the family. The best memories I have are the long conversations about life about marriage about motherhood & always always giving me the best advice. Your laugh at family gatherings, teaching me to play loteria for the first time. The list goes on. I will miss you beyond words. It’s was one of the best privileges to become your cousin! I love you forever & will miss you beyond words!

“ My memory of concha was that she was always a person I felt comfortable with. Every family event I would always lay on her, sit on her, and lean on her I would just be on her and she would always be like “Bianca why you always on me”, I just felt so comfortable with her she was an easy person to talk to and a person that always made me feel safe and comfortable. I love you Concha <3
