“ My sweet Crystal you left us way too soon honey there's not a day that goes by then I don't think of you I love you so much you meant so much to so many people you will never be forgotten you are loved and missed deeply.

“ Crystal was and will forever be a piece of my heart. I had the honor of knowing her for 15 years and my chest aches each day I can't hear her voice or watch a Snapchat of her beautiful face, goofing off or telling me about her day. I still find myself trying to send her a message or video each day. She never had a lot of patience for BS or for disingenuous people, but for her friends and family, you could always bet she was going to show up for you. Every damn time. The words are hollow compared to the feelings you left behind. I love you, Crystal. Rest easy now, baby. I'll catch you in the next life

“ I have so many good memories of Crystal growing up from going to Cassadaga for Halloween, Monster Jam, and staying the weekend at the beach with Ron making us all wake up for the sunrise just to enjoy it together. Her working at Chilis and complaining about having to wrap silverware and forgetting that story until I walked in to eat there days after she passed away just brought so many little memories back. Even though I am no longer a part of the family, those memories of being there to help raise you for so many years don't go away just because a relationship ends. I have a hole in my heart since you left this world. I know your spirit was way too strong and stubborn to go anywhere though and I know you are still around to watch over your family and they wouldn't have it any other way.

“ My sister was a force to be reckoned with. She was strong and beautiful and so very special. There was no one else like her and the world has a huge gaping hole now without her in it. I always admired her bravery and strength and her “no f**** given” view on the world. One of my first memories with her is when she gave me my first black eye.... She was only a toddler and smacked me in the face with a toy and laughed at me when I started to cry. It was quite hilarious. Back then she couldn't say “I love you.” It came out “luh luh” so that's how my family said I love you for a long time. She was a radiant burst of energy from the very beginning and I will forever love her and cherish the time I had with her. RIP sweet baby sister. Xoxoxo

For the longest time we didn't know what to call each other. My sisters sister Inlaw, my brothers sister Inlaw... we decided to just say sister. It made sense. We attended the same concerts, had the same Nieces, went to home warming parties. Talked Secretly when family was doing their thing. Crystal is so special. I know I'm not perfect but my love is. She knew that. I'm sorry for your loss Amber.
