“Baby, today is the day where everyone with gather around and celebrate the man you were. We will share in memories and laughter and yes even tears. Over the past week, I come to realize exactly how many people you have touched and are saddened at your passing, You are and will always be sorely missed. Baby, ride that bike through the clouds and let that wind hit you in the face and blow through your hair...
I love you so very much and will continue to do so till eternity.

Your always love wife,
Kim
