“ Linda and Jack - cousin posted a condolence I am so thankful for the times we shared with David. Yes, he was one of a kind and wise far beyond his years. A lot of people have been blessed by David's living testimony and his everyday, daily witness for His Savior and Lord of his life. I thank God that he is resting in peace and enjoying his eternal heavenly home with much joy and happiness far greater than we can ever imagine. I love you David.

“ Donna (Duffy) Pombrio - Old friend from Church posted a condolence I remember David as a young man who was wise well beyond his years, especially concerning the Bible and how it applied to our lives. He was an inspiration to so many of us as he taught us, by example, how to cling to God's word, regardless of our circumstances.

“ Liz and Glen VanSpyker - church friend posted a condolence David was such an amazing man. He has endured what many could not and he did everything with the Lord's help. He knew the Bible so well that it amazed me. Whenever there was a discussion about anything Bible related, David could quote and give understandable and relatable input. He has left us knowing what can be done under some of the most difficult of situations and we know he is now walking with our Saviour.

“ Janet Hendren - member of Ladies Bible Class posted a condolence Our Tuesday morning Ladies Bible class was privileged to have David as a teacher once a month. His knowledge of the Bible was extensive, but more than that, his overcoming of so many health and physical obstacles will continue to inspire us. He endured with grace and now, without his wheelchair, can truly walk with the Lord. We will miss you, David, but are glad you are in Paradise.

“ allen and connie church - old friends and church family posted a condolence We've seen God working through David; his strengths and weaknesses, for many years. His "chains", like Paul's, always advanced the gospel. We're so happy he is now whole and in the presence of the Father he served his entire adult life. RIP with God, David. We love you.
