“ We are so sad to learn of David’s passing. David was a member of the City of Altamonte Springs Planning Board, and he proudly served our community from 1990 through 2021, often as the Planning Board’s Chair. He was very well respected and provided reasoned leadership to his community for more than three decades. Many of the City’s current leaders appeared before David and his fellow Board members, he always took the time to help us develop our skills, sharing with us always valued advice and mentorship. David had a servant’s heart and gave of himself tirelessly. He was so proud of the City of Altamonte Springs. He made this City better, plain and simple.

On behalf of Mayor and the City Commission, past and current Planning Board members, and the staff at the City of Altamonte Springs, we extend our condolences to David’s loving wife, Izzie, and to their daughter, son-in-law, and their grandchildren.

We are grateful for David, and we will miss him very much.

With sympathy,

*Frank Martz

“ Truly a remarkable man. I have never meet someone so willing to give to others in time and energy and do it with a huge smile. I loved his smile. His volunteer efforts made so many people's lives stronger and happier. I worked with Dave when he was a mediator for the Seminole County Civil Courts. You would have never known it wasn't a paid position because he was never late, always willing to take the tough cases and always always professional. His work helped hundreds of citizens resolve their disputes and provided a much needed service to the overloaded court system.

During our days together, he would talk about his other volunteer projects. Advent Health where he was recognized for being a long term volunteer and Give Kids the World. He loved both opportunities to serve and would talk and get excited about the good they were doing in the community.

I marveld at his energy. When I found out his real age, I realized that I had to act more like David. So the secret to a long life is never sit still! And he was so smart! It didn't take long in a conversation to realize what a wealth of knowledge he possessed but never in a boastful manner. He seemed so acomplished in all things. He was direct. If you messed up, he'd tell you, but not in a mean way. That type of honesty is hard to come by.

David loved his family. His favorite thing to talk about were his children and grandchildren. He loved to talk about Emily's gymnastics and Geoffery's work in DC. And Izzie, oh what a true love. His world revolved around her. A man has never been more inlove with his wife than David was with his bride Izzie. I know she will miss him dearly.

I am thankful to have known David. How many people will you meet in life that you can say changed yours? He was that type of person for me. He taught me the value of selfless service. Although, I am sad to say, I hadn't seen him in several years, he has always been with me. My thoughts are with his beloved family during this time.

“David loved to welcome the families at the Village. He had traveled so much he usually knew or had visited their city, state or country. To this day I can hear him welcoming Canadian families by singing Oh Canada. He never sang more than that and I wonder if he actually knew the whole song. He and volunteer Dick worked together for many years on Friday /Saturday evenings when the village was quite small. Dick would order pizza and when it arrived they would radio engineering that there was a light out at Guest Services. This was the secret signal to come get pizza. So many memories.
