“ I may not have very many memories of my father, but I know he loved everyone around him with all his heart. Everyone has their ups and downs, that’s okay. What I do remember and cherish is he tried his best to keep in contact somehow with me as I was growing up.

Whether that was mailing me something on my birthday or when got Facebook and would send me happy birthday paragraphs. I was hoping to be able to meet him in person once I turned 18, which as of right now is less than a month away. It’s so unfortunate that it happened so soon. I would’ve loved to sit down and talk to him about all kinds of things, mostly life in general. But also make him proud and show him he created something wonderful. He watched me grow up from afar and I hope he will continue to watch over me in the future. -Crossfixxio
