Our mother was the epitome of a fighter. Faced with numerous health issues throughout the years and until the very end, she never ceased to amaze her doctors or anyone she knew with her will to fight, unwavering faith in God and positive, grateful attitude through it all. Regardless of how tough things were, she always told us "not to worry" and ended every message with "love you endlessly." Though she may not be with us any longer, we know we have an angel above that will be watching over us each and every day, reminding us not to worry, to enjoy every day we're given and to never lose faith. She will be greatly missed and loved endlessly.
