“ Benjamin McBride - Friend posted a condolence I met Don 1990 when he and his SEEK organization needed assistance in giving out toys to the homeless families. Since then I have assisted him every year making these unfortunate kids holiday a little brighter. His generous giving has impacted officers from the Clearwater police so much, that each year I had to turn down those wanting to assist. He will truly be missed by those at Clearwater Police department, those organizations who he has assisted throughout the years and I will dearly miss him. God bless you and your family. Ben Mc Bride.

“ Julie Kauzlarich - Friend posted a condolence Justin, Your dad was a very loving, caring, and generous man. I was constantly amazed by what he could, and did, accomplish. I met him many years ago when I began dating my husband, John. He and Donn had been friends for many years before that, and John had participated in many of your dad's charitable activities. Oh, the stories the two of them have told me over the years! I of course also became involved, and John and I encouraged our daughters to become involved. Who could ever say "no" to Donn, and who would want to? He made an immeasurable difference in the lives of countless people --children and adults alike, but we all know how much he loved helping children and making them happy. To see Donn's face when a surprised child received a Christmas gift from "Santa," or when he knew a child who would have had nothing was provided with something, was to see pure Heaven. John and I, and many others, looked forward each year to the Christmas Santa deliveries. Our daughters learned valuable, lifelong lessons from your dad. We were, and always will be, in awe of Donn's limitless love, generosity, and ability to do whatever it took to try to provide something for every last child, so that no child was left without happy Christmas memories. Donn -- your dad, our friend -- IS Santa, and was an angel on earth. We are all truly blessed to have known him, and the world was blessed in so many ways for his having lived. God Bless.

“ Pam Mesmer - friend posted a condolence Donn never forgot his youth and having no family to share special holidays with. He was Santa to 100s of residents at Brookwood throughout the 30 years I knew him. He treated the girls to Christmas shopping, lunch parties, limo rides, and holiday decorating. Every Valentine's Day he had a florist deliver a flower for each of the girls, so they would feel special. He was the first recipient of Brookwood's "Annie Award" for his unique generosity and sharing. He would talk with the girls, really hearing what they had to say and share his thoughts and words of encouragement. They invited him occasionally to Brookwood for dinner parties and made him thank you cards to hang in his office. He will forever be remembered by residents and staff at our group home. He will be missed and his memory cherished. Love, Pam and the kids and staff of Brookwood Florida!
