“ Several family members vacationing in Clearwater Florida decided to go out on a dinner cruise. We were dancing all night in the lower deck. Suddenly we spot the Coast Guard along side of us. The entire night the ship was stuck on a sand bar and all the rocking we thought was us going out further to sea, but the whole time we were dancing and partying away we had no idea we were stuck on a sand dune and the rocking was the Captain trying to get us off. We had to be pulled off by the Coast Guard and we never left port. It was hysterical and my mom was cracking up As we all were
