September 25, 1956 - October 13, 2025

Eddie "Ed" Sanabria Jr., 69, passed away on October 13, 2025, in Orlando, Florida. Born on September 25, 1956, in Opa-locka, Florida, Eddie lived a full and vibrant life marked by dedication to his work, deep love for his family, and an infectious sense of humor that left a lasting impression on all who knew him.

Eddie pursued higher education at Biscayne College in Miami Gardens, Florida. His professional journey was both impressive and impactful. He served as a Senior Aircraft Flight Planner for over two decades, demonstrating precision and commitment in a demanding field. Later in his career, he transitioned into the financial sector as Vice President of Security & Facilities within a financial institution—roles that reflected his versatility and leadership.

He is lovingly remembered by his wife, Linda Sanabria of Orlando; daughter Lauren Zeballos of Windermere; step-son Steven LeBlanc of Gainesville; mother Maria Sanabria; brothers Robert and Raymond Sanabria; grandson Joshua Zeballos; and granddaughter Sophia Pincura. Eddie was preceded in death by his father, Eddie Sanabria.

Known affectionately as "Mr. Ed," he was a man who brought laughter wherever he went. His quick wit and caring nature made him not only a beloved family member but also a cherished friend and mentor. He had an uncanny ability to teach others through everyday conversations—he truly knew a little bit about a lot of things.

Eddie's passions were as bold as his personality. He loved fishing and golfing with the same intensity that he cheered for his favorite football teams—the Miami Dolphins and the University of Miami Hurricanes. "GO U!" was more than just a cheer—it was part of who he was. Whether watching football or attending BBQs with friends and family, Eddie found joy in life's simple pleasures.

A celebration of Eddie's life will be held on Saturday, October 25, 2025, at Baldwin Brothers Funeral Home located at 1654 N Semoran Blvd., Orlando, FL 32807.
