“ Gary and my dad would sit in the car waiting for me or my mom and out of the blue my dad would say Meadows and Gary would just start laughing because he was the one that got him started doing that so they would sit in the car and watch people come out of the building and saying Meadows they were buddies my dad is going to miss him a lot! I have so many stories he could tell a story with a straight face and you will think its true until the end and realize it's not and you could just slap him lol 😂 I will miss him so much especially your sense of humor and the memes you use to send me all the time especially the short ones and Meghan will miss the vegetarian jokes!
