“ I met Gennaro (Gerry) Liguori at PS 45 - Paul Hoffman Junior High School - in the Bronx.

I, along with every other 14-year-old girl in that school, fell head over heels. It didn't last long because he and his cousin (Henry, I think) transferred to Cardinal Hayes Catholic High School. My recollections of him are those of a polite, serious, young man.

I was deeply saddened to hear Deacon Henry Liberstadt mention his name at Mass.

I will pray often for the repose of his soul.

After all this time he still has the greatest name in town - who could ever forget that name!
