“ Lotta Baumann - Friend posted a condolence Gigi lived a rich, full life, enjoying each day as if it were the last. Her life was teaching - and learning - which she did to the end. She had more energy than anyone I have ever known, reaching out and touching so many lives in so many organizations. Her enthusiasm was limitless and her excitement at the beginning of each semester enormous. Each new school term brought her more "incredible students, more incredible than last semester..." Her many friends will miss her - and our frequent parties and get-togethers. She is leaving many empty spaces in so many areas.

“ Cathy Rentschler Bogart - good friend posted a condolence Gigi was so full of life. I can't believe she is gone. How I will miss our lunches on the Gulfport waterfront (French fries with a side of mayo!), our discussions about books and theology, and the classes she taught at St. Peter's Cathedral. Gigi was always looking for an excuse to throw a party. If it was someone's birthday, she would sing Happy Birthday in Swedish! She was a caring, thoughtful friend. I will miss her so much. May God comfort Marty and all of us who grieve her loss.

“ Deanna Bennett - Friend/fellow UofChicago alumnus posted a condolence I am deeply saddened by the news of dear Gigi's death. I knew her through the University of Chicago Club. I don't know how our club, and we personally, will get along without her excitement and enthusiastic support. Gigi Stengard did not graduate from the University of Chicago, but she spent the better part of a year on an exchange program from Sweden working on her advanced degree - hand in hand with Saul Bellow. An enthusiastic friend and admirer of the University of Chicago, she was one of the original cadre which established the University of Chicago Club of Tampa Bay. She was the force behind our University of Chicago Award for Student Excellence (our "book award"), contacting schools, receiving and sending out books, organizing the presenters. No one who met Gigi ever forgot her. She was intense. She was irreverent. She was fun. She liked a good glass or two of white wine. My deepest sympathy to Gigi's family and all others who share in her loss.

“ Danette (Dani) Kauffman - Friends through The University of Chicago Alumni Club of Tampa Bay posted a condolence Gigi was an energetic and dedicated volunteer for the University of Chicago in the Tampa Bay area. She developed and coordinated the University of Chicago Book Awards program in Tampa Bay to interest high school juniors, their parents and guidance counselors in considering The University of Chicago. Gigi's energy was boundless. She was a loyal friend and volunteer. She welcomed the stranger. Gigi will always be remembered.
