“ My deepest sympathies to Craig, her love, and to her brothers, John and Blanchard.

I am so sorry that Jo has left this earth so soon. We were "buds" surviving high school together and becoming a part of each other families. We spent hours and at each other's homes with parents siblings, cousins. My parents absolutely loved her. We laugh a lot, listened to Motown. We also shared our insecurities and, later in life, where our paths took us--her years of teaching and the love of her life, Craig.

I know that when Jo entered heaven, not only did Gramps and Daisy greet her with open arms, but Joe and Shirley were there to welcome her, as well.
