“ I met John at the Naval School of Music when both of us were starting out as junior naval musicians. I was the drummer, along with John, when we first shipped out as a 16 member unit band and served on the USS Intrepid, USS Canberra and USS North Hampton as the special unit band for the Admiral of the Second Fleet. We were all so young and had many wonderful adventures and memories together. After searching the internet a few years ago, I re-newed contact with John and we would usually share some news around Veteran's Day every year. I will miss John. Even back then in the 1950's John was a sort of leader of our band unit. I would like to speak to his wife Donna or son, John Jr. but have failed to get any replies via internet or telephone. My contact info is Ron Sokol at 574 -243 - 0764 or resokol@hotmail.com. I would appreciate hearing from any member of the family, so I could directly offer my condolences. John, may you RIP
