John was a graduate of Illinois State University Chicago with a degree in Electrical Engineering. He spent his career in Software Design.

John was an amateur astronomer and spent many happy hours with his telescopes and computer, photographing stars and galaxies invisible to the naked eye. He loved life and loved to laugh, and he made everyone around him laugh. Christmas was his favorite time of year. He loved everything Disney, Hallmark movies (especially Christmas) and action movies alike. He adored his family and was happiest when he was with them. He loved the
