“ Gayla Kilbride - Friend & Landlady posted a condolence Jon, Your fight is over and you are at peace. I love your smile. It has been such an amazing journey with you. You taught me many things over the past 5 years. During the good times and even the bad it was a joy having you in my life. I loved the twinkle in your eye when you were being funny or sly. I loved that you were the first to jump in when someone needed help. I loved your compassion for the animals in the house. You helped me take care of the rabbits and it was you who helped Bella, our rescued pit bull, get along with the cats and become a fantastic house dog. You taught me to work on my patience. Everyone in the house loved you even when you were having a difficult time. All arguments were quickly forgiven and forgotten. You are in our minds and our hearts. YOU WILL BE MISSED FOREVER. We Love you still.

“ Dean Gunter - Father posted a condolence Dear Jon, Your Mom and I fell in love with you the very first time we saw you in All Children's Hospital right after you were born. You only weighed 3 pounds and 2 ounces and we could have held you in the palm of our hand. But we didn't. As soon as it was possible, we had you cradled in our arms rocking you and singing to you. We were by your side in that hospital several times every single day and we could not wait to bring you home. Unfortunately, since you came into this world two months early and was so tiny, we could not bring you home for two months. Oh, the joy that you brought into our lives and then to the lives of everyone you met. You had a heart of gold, a keen sense of humor, you were a great practical joker, you were so very compassionate. I am so very sad that later on, your life would become very troubled. I know you were in a lot of pain but you kept it very private, as much as you could, because you did not want to worry us. Jon, we all love you so very much and deep down, I do know within my heart, that you know that. As badly as I am hurting and missing you, I do have peace in knowing that several years ago you accepted Christ as your Savior and was baptized believing that Jesus died for you. You were so happy when you told me that and I was overjoyed. Because of that profession of your faith, I know that you have already met Jesus when He welcomed you into Heaven, your brand new Paradise. I smile when I picture your precious mother waiting to greet you with that huge smile on her face. Oh, what a reunion that must have been! I wish I could have seen it, but someday we all are going to be reunited again. You will never struggle or be burdened again, my precious son. That brings me such peace and that is what is getting me through this. We cried the day you left us, Jon, but our tears were for us. We are hurting, but we know the joy that you have now and that brings us much contentment and peace. We miss you Jon and we will never, never forget you. This is not goodbye, Jon, but this is so long, my buddy, until we meet again. Keep looking for me because I will be there, I promise. I love you and miss you so very much. Dad
