“ Its been three years Joseph since you left us and I miss you more and more every day. I talk to you every morning and usually throughout the day. I try to stay happy and positive but it still is so very painful. Tammy and I miss you and have a special place for you here. Nina and I talk about you all the time. She just got her promotion and wish you were here to share her moment with you. Her and Jase and doing well, Jase just had a birthday too. Keep visiting us here at the house we always enjoy sharing time with you. Be happy in heaven my Joefa and God bless. Your loving Father,

“ I'm so sorry that I can't make it back for the service this evening. Like many of us from Bishop Moore, I've got too many wonderful memories with Joe to name all (or even most) here. Some of the highlights include stealing banners from science fair in Indy, all the AP classes and the Carol shirts, him bringing inappropriate signs to pick me up from the Albuquerque airport, quiz bowl and being so excited and nervous we couldn't eat, sneaking drinks watching comedians and getting to actually sit in the front row and talk to Monique, proms, homecomings, long talks in the car, the best of books, & the worst of Chinese food buffets. I wouldn't be where I am today without Joe, no exaggeration. Thank you for all of the time and love and support and every single snarky comment that made me laugh. I'll treasure it all forever.

Thank you Maureen for of those nice memories of Joseph. He was lucky to have been in your life too. I spoke to your mom at the service, I mentioned you as well when I spoke at the mass, the trip to Indy and all that. I miss him so much and the sepsis infection was so fast by the time I got him to the hospital he had a stroke.....and that was it! It was truly a blur. It breaks my heart every day. please continue to remember and talk to him when you can, he was loved by all who knew him, God Bless, Joe's Dad

My amazing, handsome, gifted son, YOU are my Sunshine, my friend, my blessed son, my treasure, and my life. Let PAPA know how much we miss him and take good care of him, as I take comfort knowing that you are with GOD and our family. I LOVE YOU MORE! MOM

“ Joseph, you were our son and friend always and a big brother to your baby sister please help us all to heal with your kind hearted spirit. Visit us often in our hearts, your Poem you wrote ten years ago and had published means way more to me today than it did then! It has consumed me over these last several days since you left. It is so powerful for those who read it, I mean really read it and study it, understand what Nepenthe is, how you credit it's use in your Poem from the Odyssey of Homer and the complex use of metaphors from it and the credit for the Nepenthe as it relates to the common carnivorous Pitcher Plants that we tried to grow so many times! Your were such a genius son but you could not grow anything, that's why you bought the plastic one we have today! lol! The poem The Nepenthe of the Nepenthes when all read it and those who were close to you will understand that you wrote about YOUR Life and your Death over ten Years ago! So powerful! Thank you for your brilliance, your love and your soft sided kind spirit, I will love and miss you always Love, Dad (I'll see you later? OK?)

“ Joe was very special to me. A brilliant, well-rounded person and a loving, protective friend. We met many years ago at St. Mary Magdalen. He loved to joke around and would call me his wife when we were just elementary/middle school students. We kept in touch and spent time together over the years. I was lucky to be living in South Florida while he was living in Jupiter. I loved driving up to see him at his house and meeting up for dinner at the Hard Rock. Joe was someone I could reach out to about anything. We talked about everything from books and his goals in medical school to petty reality tv. He was supportive, understanding, and prayerful.

To Joseph's family, you have been in my thoughts and prayers. I am so so sorry.
