“ I remember fishing in South Boston with Uncle Joe. I had such a great time, especially when Uncle was baiting my hook every time, my sister Debbie's hook every time. He also helped with my brother Michael's fishing line that was always getting tangled. Joe never was able to drop a line in that day.

In Daytona we use to fish off the pier for several hours. We had some thoughtful, peaceful times together. I also loved the talks we had on the ride to and back from Dayton. We would always stop and look at the beautiful birds and always stopped at Denny's. Great times! Memories live on!
