“ Tomorrow will be a month since you went to heaven. I miss you so much. Calling you, hearing your voice and especially your laugh. Making crafts was something we shared. As I sit here making a crocheted hat, tears are running down my face. Now that the holidays are upon us I also think of all the holidays we shared. Ty for all the great memories Mom. I love you and miss you very much. All my love Debbie 🥹

“ I have so many memories of my dear lady friend Kathy who I have known for 7 years. i have done alot of small jobs for her and enjoyed her being so hospitable towards me. She was like a second mom to me and always treated me so nice. I remember her asking me to take her for a ride to a little store front to get these amazing pastrami sandwiches and I had to run in and order these for us.. MMMMMMMM that's all she said. We went there several times throughout the years. Also, I can't forget those Sundays when I would get home from church, her knowing what time I got home She wanted me to go to the Outback for her favorite "bloomin onion". She always wanted me to drive her car to pick up her favorite foods. She couldn't wait till I got back and said,"I will save the rest for later" She liked when I would make her laugh too. There were times I took her to the doctor and on the way home she wanted her egg foo wong . So, I stopped to get that with her and off we went to eat at her home...MMMMMMMMMMMMM again. The memories over the years are just too many . I would be here for a long time writing all that I can recall of her. I will always remember her and thank God that I knew this lady who had touched my world in so many different ways.. Loved her and will miss her always!!

Love, June

“ My grandmother showed you she loved you through her cooking...she loved to cook what your favorite meal was and enjoyed doing so...she was a big foodie all the way till the end. ...She took pride in how a dinner table should be set and food too be hot and the family to sit together. ...we might not have agreed on everything. ...but her strength was admirable ...we would have coffee and breakfast every morning together and watch Steve Harvey...those mornings will be missed...

“ My youngest memory is when Mom always said watch out for your sister she is smaller than you. I sure did made sure she didn't take any of my toys! When I was older she would say watch me cook so you learn how .. Years later I became a cook in small restaurants then for the Red Cross. Today Cooking is one of my favorite things to do, besides my crafts. Ty Mom for your advice always. Love and Miss you Debra

“ The most supportive Mom.....

I recall when I was in 6th grade and told my Mom I was considering running for President of the student body how my Mom (who was very active in politics) proceeded to go crazy making posters for me to put up in school asking for votes. We made and I passed out flyers and spoke to students. Then I won the election and had to make a speech to the entire school. So my Mom put me in a sparkling silver dress! She would not let me change, she felt the dress was appropriate for the occasion. Ugh! Parents!

Gareth you and I shared so many "political events" in our lives :-) with your Mom and my Dad being so active in the Town of Islip. Many many wonderful memories. I remember spending days at your home since we were 9 years old. I loved being around your Mom, she had such a sense of humor and an infectious laugh. She was my girl scout leader! And later in life she signed every one of my daughters birth certificates when she was the Town Registrar I send my love to you my dear friend and your family, at this time of great loss. Love as always Diane (McKay) Parmentier

As kids, I have fond memories of all the times your parents invited me to go out on your boat. And then one time we were covered with jellyfish bites. Ugh! Your mom loved to sew and my mother (who lived in a different state) loved to sew -- so I think I had a little connection when I would touch her fabrics. One time when we were in 4th grade, she had this beautiful taffeta. To this day, the word "taffeta" comes to mind when I think of her. Funny how the memories work. Peace.
