“ My mother was a kind and loving person who was denied the golden years she so heartily deserved. She would have loved to see her grandchildren grow and develop, spoiling them along the way with her legendary gift giving skills. I will always appreciate and remember her sense of humor, her gregarious laugh, her kind heart, her tenderness and care, her naughty streak as she cheated at cards, her fried chicken, how she would say "hey sweetie" and her unconditional love. The world is less lovely without her in it.
