“ December 31st, 2025, Happy Heavenly Birthday 61 you old poop, LOL Found your favorite cake with tons of chocolate crunchies 1st Christmas in the new house, truly love the location, lots to do, and anything important is close by, all the neighbors are super friendly, we should have considered this place way back , lots of nice landscaping and 1 1/2 car garage, even thinking of a golf cart to get around much more coinvent then a car. A mass was said in your memory, and i do stop by now and again to light a candle for you and your parents awesome inside to the church, will celebrate your birthday later tonight ... my heart still breaks at your passing the memories may fade but the hurt never goes away. Love you with all my heart looking forward to us & all the poochies together again, hug them for me, With all my LOVE.....

“ September 27th, 2025...Well 9years ( 9/21/16) .wow seems like yesterday this nightmare started... went up to Bklyn to visit with our new grandbaby Luke, what an awesome kid he's a big strapping young man just full of childhood cuteness, best part is when Elena came to visit too, seeing Veronica holding Luke brought such happiness & the sadness that you weren't there to enjoy both kids together ... in a new home now 2bd 1 1/2 car garage, all i could ask for close by.. one of the best parts you can golf cart everywhere within the entire community.....but true happiness still escapes me not having you to enjoy this with , still not a day goes buy that your in my thoughts and prayers, as always missing you till were together again, hug the kids for me... all my love, Andy

well "old"man 60, celebrating another birthday without you...another year over without your smile or infectious laughter or quips..the pain and hurt just never stops...wish you were here so I could have done something very special for you this year I put up a tree, no decorations, only your special touch could have decorated it...and were missing another milestone , your going to be a "GRANDPA" again, Maria & Harris are having a baby... Grandpa, Grandpa!! gee how you hated that word, but i know one kiss, or someone putting their little arms around you saying PLEASE, would have just melted your heart, I just know they would have you wrapped around their little fingers ( such a Mr. Softee ) Well cant wait to see you again, i'll meet you at the Rainbow bridge so the family can be together again... Hug & Kiss the pups for me.....

“ Christmas 2018..... Well a 3rd Christmas in Heaven, how empty a home and heart can be without the warmth of your smile or the sound of your laughter. Visited the cemetery, went to Radio City, they changed the show to extend the Nativity at the end ( humbug ) saw the tree ..... and today for the first time since June, I saw a rainbow... the sun was climbing and some long wispy clouds passed underneath, a small but bright rainbow appeared, and danced & twinkled thru the cloud(s) as it passed.... thank you for that, now I can spend Christmas knowing your here with me..... Hug Liza & JR... but it's you scarecrow that I miss most of all.

Happy 2nd Anniversary in Heaven, yes, two years have passed... two long and empty years. The hurt and pain of your passing is still as fresh as ever, the emptiness is forever present. Had a mass said for you, sat in that same seat and after everyone left thru the tears I was transported back ..... saw the same people, the decorated alter you were placed on, herd the bell slowly tolling ... NO.... the hurt just never goes away the pain never stops ..... your laughter, your smile, that quick sharp wit... the love and life we shared can never be replaced, your loss is felt so deeply, every day. The thought of you no longer in pain, and with your family in heaven, and the company of Junior and Liza gives me a glimmer of peace. Wish you were here to hold your Grand Daughter she is AWESOME, so cute, great smile & the best giggles ever ... well I miss you the most scarecrow hug Junior & Liza for me

“ 10/19/2017..... well Scarecrow, in the new home now, And while on the cruise relaxing in the hot tub I saw the darndest sight .....saw you checking things out in a beautiful rainbow with every color so distinct and sharp all in a bright blue sunny rainless sky in this only one HUGE puffy white cloud had to get out of the tub and look over the railing just to be sure I was seeing what I was seeing..... watched it for the whole time until till it faded away. Some people find pennies, some find lost things, I get you at the most unexpected times in rainbows..... is it because "over the rainbow" is my most favorite JG song ????? Well Honey, now for the GOOD news a bit late but your wish to be a Father has been granted..... your going to be a GRANDPA ! AH HEM !, something tells me you knew that because for the first time ever, there was a gay couple on the cruise pushing a toddler around in a stroller, the funny thing is I kept running into them at least once a day..... NEVER in ALL our/my cruises has that ever happened..... BITCH you always did like to put one over on me when you can !!! Love Ya, A

“ I am so sorry that Ken is gone. He was always such a sweet man. A few of my fondest memories are that although he and Uncle Andrew lived across the country, he assisted me each year with my family calendar by forwarding photographs of recent adventures. This was a wonderful way to stay current with their lives and have wonderful contributions for the calendar. He also always made me feel pretty. He seldom missed an opportunity to tell me I reminded him of the gorgeous Marcia Cross. I could be having a bad day at work and out of the blue, I'd receive an email from Ken containing another Marcia Cross picture with a note that she was my celebrity look alike. I am not sure that is true, but it sure made my day and touched my heart to hear from him. He never forgot a birthday and consistently invited us to beautiful Florida with a sincere heart. I am grateful for brief time we were a part of one another's lives and will always smile when I see a picture of Marcia Cross..
