“ Betty Coleman - Step-mother posted a condolence To my dear and sweet Kristy. I miss you more and more each day and I can't imagine that the pain will ever become bearable. I look at your pictures all day and wish so deeply that you were still here. The word "regret" doesn't encompass how much I wish I'd been there for you more than I was. I can only pray that you forgive me. Much love, Mamma

“ Mikey D. - Friend posted a condolence Heavy hearts ends 2010. You were such a "real" friend. When you combine her beauty with her creative mind, our pain is what is left behind. Many tried to see you through, I guess this was his time for you.....I've dedicated my new sober life to you Kristy. The power of prayer is stronger than this Country can ever dream. My thoughts & prayers go out to your family & anyone who's heart you so delicately touched. Rest in peace sweet ~Kristy~

“ Doug Kempf - friend posted a condolence I met Kristina about 3 years ago at a golf course and we had a talk about Christ and after that we never met, but talked several times on the phone! She always wanted to know more about the Bible and the last email I got she told me we should hang out-because my father was in the hospital at that time. Never heard from her in December and just found out about the news. I wish the best for her family Sincerely, Doug

“ LILA - GIRLFRIEND posted a condolence She was such an hero, to take it all away. We miss her so, That you should know, And we honor her this day. She was an hero, to take that shot, to leave us all behind. God do we wish we could take it back, And now she's on our minds. Kristina was an hero, to leave us feeling like this, Our minds are rubber, our joints don't work, Our tears fall into abyss. She was an hero, to take that shot, In life it wasn't her task, She shouldn't have had to go that way, before an decade'd past. Now she sits there in my heart, this hero of mine, Always there to make me smile, Make me feel just fine. She had courage, that girl did, courage in her heart. To take that shot, To end her pain, To tear us all apart. But in the end, she died in courage. Lacking, nevermore, She died an hero, Kristina did, And we'll love her forevermore. We love you like an sister. We miss you so much. We will always love you, kid. Rest In Peace Kristy. ~Lila
