“ Cathy Mijou - Friend & Co-worker posted a condolence I first met Lana when she came to work with us at Bankers as a part-time temp, just to help out for awhile. She swore then she would never work at a company on a regular basis again. It took a little time and a lot of love and laughter and trust, but she finally joined us as a regular employee. Bright, quick, funny, wise, and ever so likeable - and a big help on the job, too. I would explain things to her, or overexplain as she thought, and she would say "Do I really need to know that? Cause if I don't, I don't want to clutter my head with it!" She knew what was important to her and did not waver from it. Some of my favorite "Southern" expressions came from Lana - imagine the influences from both Texas and Florida! You got lines like "that was enough to put hair on a rattlesnake!" She was the calm in a storm, a true compass. How I will miss her. Godspeed, Lana, oh, I know, you're already there. My condolences to her family - may her light always shine on you.

“ Elsa Houtz - Worked together at Bankers Insurance posted a condolence Long after all of us left Bankers, Lana and I stayed friends and stayed in touch. She loved hearing about my horses, and even went with me to visit them in Palmetto this past winter. We also shared a belief in God's goodness and sovereignty. For her, that faith was tested in mighty ways but she never let go of her convictions. And I know for a fact, as sure as I sit at this computer, that right now she is basking in His amazing love--while also cracking Him up with her offbeat sense of humor! I loved Lana and I praise God for the privilege of being her friend. I join you in celebrating a life that brought richness, humor and joy to others.
