Larry Sailer, (rollin' in my) 64, of Winter Park, Florida, passed away September, 6, 2016 at Central Florida Regional Hospital from cardiopulmonary failure. He was born in Santa Monica, CA on January 12, and grew up in Central Florida with his family. Larry was preceded in death by his father, Stanley J. Sailer, and his nephew, Scott Oakley. He is survived by his Mother, Florence Sailer; his Sister, Shirley Oakley; his Aunt & Uncle; Vicki & Hal Lehman. His spirit lives on with his three children - Peter, Amy, and Shelley. His friend and former wife Ronnie Kenney will be performing his Memorial Service. Larry was known for his great smile, a warm heart, and a helping hand to anyone who needed it.

There is a Battle of Two Wolves Inside of Us

One is evil. It is anger, jealousy, greed, resentment, lies, inferiority and ego.

The other is good. It is joy, peace, love, hope, humility, kindness, empathy, and truth.

The wolf that wins? The one you feed

“HIYA KANG buddy. Larry, I sure miss that greeting in our chitchats. We had so many laughs and a few tears as well. You brightened many of my days. I hope I brightened a few of yours. I take comfort in knowing that you deserve every feather on those beautiful wings. Fly free my dear friend... and hey.. if you get a chance, toss down a feather for your old buddies here, once in awhile, so when we see it, we'll know you're not far away and thinkin about us! Missing you bud. Rest easy.. - Sishasha

It's just like you to leave me, literally leave me, in such a way that provokes questions about life, God, and death to keep me thinking, reading, and wondering for the rest of my life. will miss you my brother, your kind soul, your caring attitude, your wit, your humor. We have lost a very kind, loving soul and our hearts cry out in pain. I will miss our talks my friend. My heart is heavy! May the Gods take you in and keep your soul forever peaceful as those of us who remain here remember you as. I will miss you my brother and await the time until I shall see you again. I rejoice in knowing one thing, you and Snow are together again, give her a hug for us. One day we shall meet again , Melvin (Randall)

“ May the Lord GOD Almighty bless and provide the needed strength to face this tragedy and heal your hearts.
I first met Larry and his beloved Snow in Altamonte Springs. We continued our friendship both online and over the phone. We reunited once again at the hospital after his surgery. He always spoke of "MOM" and the things they were doing to their condominium. I was delighted to meet "MOM" when Larry and me met for breakfast one morning.
I will always remember my friend Kang as a great son, Patriot who loved this nation, as well as a good friend.
To my buddy Kang and may you R. I. P.
