“ Michael Gregory - Old Friend posted a condolence Lewis and I were very close in High school over 40 years ago. We shared many great adventures together not to mention our common birthday. we once celebrated our 51st, (combined), at an ice cream parlor in the Castleton mall with some common friends from High school. It was one of the most memorable evenings of my life. While it had been far to many decades since we had connected I had just reconnected with my dear old friend and now he is gone. I miss him. I had such plans for getting back together again so many more times now that I have the chance. I will miss Lewis for as long as I may live. His absence leaves a big hole in my life. I always counted on him being in this world longer than me and I have a hard time realizing that he is with God now. It may be better for him, but my world is sadder.
