“ Hi Mackinsey. It has been a while since I wrote on here. I just wanted to say hi and hope you are doing well up there wherever there is. I had my compassionate friends meeting this passed Thursday and talked to a few parents who just lost their children within a few month and looking in their eyes I could see how grief stricken they were. Like I was those first years. It hard to believe that it will be 7 years in a three month. I share a lot about you in my meetings and how wonderful you were and how lucky I was to be chosen to be your dad. I'll never stop missing you and I love you more each day. I hope you are still watching over me, your mom and your friends and family son. Until me meet again.

Love Dad

“ Well Mackinsey, since I have last written you, Christmas has come and gone, New Years Eve has also been celebrated and your best bud Shawn Stiver moved out on your mom while she was out of town for a for days. So what's new with you? I'm sure you see how well the Steelers are playing this year. They already have a spot in the play offs. Now that things have settled down here in the house I am hoping you'll stop by to see your good old mom now and then. Been told by several that spirits don't like confrontation or turmoil, well the house is very peaceful now; so please drop in any time, your mom is waiting. Now that Shawn moved out Ratchet and Zoey have their own bedboom, at least until I change out the carpets. So my darling I leave you with all my love, good thoughts and most importantly my heart until the next time we chat. Love you to the sky and back!

“ Well Mackinsey, another 3 months have rolled around. Life is just by miserably. Your mom is so unhappy almost wished I was up there with you. Your dad had a partial knee replacement and stayed with Shawn & I for the first week. You'd be soproud of home, he did aawesome, he's actually back to work just this past Friday. Hope things are going good for you up there. Baby I miss you so much! Xmas is right around corner, sure would like you to reach out to me somehow. So baby know I love you and take care of yourself. Your mommy loves you to the sky and back.

“OMG Mackinsey, I can't believe its been almost four months since I've written you on this site. My how time flies. Not much new everyday is a struggle; feel like each day is exactly like the one before. You know like that movie "Ground Hog Day". Work is the same just less people to do the work and more and more is expected of those of us left. I'm sure by now you know Aunt Nancy died. What a horrible thing how she deterated within the four months before her passing. What a very special sweet person she was. I know most definitely she is up there with you in heaven. So the two of you behave yourselves up there. So my darling until next time know I love you to the sky and back! Mom

“Hey Mackinsey, it's mom. Just got back from a trip to Pennsylvania with your nanny & poppy to see his side of the family. Aunt Peggy, Aunt Marlene & especially Aunt Nancy are not doing well at all. So my son if they happen to end up your way please show them the ropes and comfort them. Shawn had a bad accident on his motorcycle about 5 weeks ago. He too is in pretty bad shape, so send some love his way. But I'm sure you already know all of this. How are you doing my son? Haven't written for almost a month and a half but it doesn't mean that your not in my heart nor on my mind. I miss you babe! Oh here's a good one for you while your mom was up in Pennsylvania your dad had Easter dinner with Shawn and his mom; it was very nice of them to include him. So my dear until next time take care and remember I love you to the sky and back. Mom

“ Good Morning my Son, I hope my email finds you well. Can you believe Christmas is in two (2) days. Doesn't really matter to me; just another day but of course if you were here it would be another story. Your dad was just mentioning to me the other day it is now six (6) Christmas's you have now been gone (unbelievable). Shawn is still here at the house, and hopefully by the end of 2017 he should be in better shape financially and your mom will feel a little better about what's all happened between us. He is struggling Mackinsey so hopefully you can help him out and guide him down the right path. But I will tell you he loved you, you were the bright spot in his life while you were here, his best friend and I know he misses you. So however you guys celebrate Christmas up there I have a great time, no how much I love and miss you. How blessed I was to be your mom. I love you to the sky and back. Jayme

“ Hi Honey, checking in to say hello. In just about a week you'll be gone for (5) years. It is just mind blowing how time works. Sometimes it is so slow other times faster than ever. All I know is that either way it sucks here without you. On a good note your mom has now reconnected with your father after almost (5) years. Its was a long time coming should have never let it happen that way. I'm so glad he's back in my life and I believe he feels the same. Your mom is going to see a medium in the near future so get ready baby I can't wait for a visit. Until then know how much I love you. To the sky and back. Mom

Jayme Constantine - October 13, 2016 at 07:35 PM

“ Hi Honey, It's been a horrible week. Ever since you left Shawn & I haven't been the same. Each year since you've died each year has gotten worst. I've kept it to myself and really haven't confided in anyone but Shawn's mom and your Aunt Dawn. But now with Mary Kay's stroke I don't want to get her upset and Aunt Dawn is dealing with a lot on her plate at the moment. This past Tuesday is when Shawn decided to finally call it quits. He's running around not coming home, nor letting me know he's not coming home and me here sleepless waiting on him. The last couple of days your mom looks old, tired and feels like a zombie. But Mackinsey your gone and life does go one no matter what. Sometimes I think you're the lucky one! So my darling anytime you would like to stop in and visit your mom in a dream I could surely use it. Oh, by the way you did come to me in a dream about a month ago. It was so cute, you were upset because you didn't know how to dance. My handsome little boy, how I loved waking up that morning. So my darling don't be a stranger, remember how much I love you. To the sky & back. Mom.

“ Hey Babe, gosh I turned around and another month has gone by. My sister told me the other night if I just talk to you and tell you I need you, you would come. So my darling Mackinsey, I'm saying that now so you can hear me and hear me well. Honey I need you, please come and visit me. I have been waiting for you. I hope you are somewhere in some form and living a new life in eternity. One day I long to see you again. Until then my handsome boy stay strong, be happy and most importantly be whole again. For remember how much your mother loves you. To the sky and back. Love, Mom

“ To My Dearest Mackinsey, hard to believe in 4 months from now you will be gone for 5 years. It is just mind blowing when I think about that number. Has it gone fast has it gone slow; I just know you're still gone. Since I last visited you honey on this site Mary Kay had a stroke and Pennsylvania Pa died all while mommy was on her cruise. So I hope you're getting to know more Dad more than I have ever had the chance to. He was flying me up in May but of course not now as he's with you. Life just seems to get worse at times. Anyway enough of that, how are you my darling boy. Mommy see Kalob up at RG Brewskis and he sure has grown up. Still a little on the odd side but at least he's here. So my precious boy, stay whole, be happy, and stop in and see me some time. I'm still waiting for you. All my love, Mom

“ To My Dearest Son, for Thanksgiving has already came and went. Nanny and Poppy came over yesterday and we had a nice dinner. I know you remember Aunt Stacey's dad, he died the day before Thanksgiving. He has you probably already know has had a rough month. He told everyone no more fighting and asked to die. So now hopefully you guys are hanging out up there, and singing the twelve days of Christmas. How he and I would try and get (five golden rings); do you remember that honey. Little by little everyone is passing, just don't like that part of life. Anyway my son, as always I love you, miss you, and wish you were here. Your mom is actually thinking about putting up a tree this year; we all hand made ornaments. I'll post again real soon. To the sky and back, Mackinsey. Love, Mom

“ To My Dear Son Mackinsey, For today marks four (4) years of you being gone. Today we spent the day with Nanny & Poppy and we had you along in spirit. I can't begin to tell you how much you are missed. The world is a sadder place without you in it. This would have been your first year out of high school and I wonder what you would have been doing. But no matter what it was I would have been proud of you. Please know that there is not a day that goes by that you are not in my heart or on my mind. I will always considered myself blessed and so thank for and honored to be called your mom. All my love my son, Mom

Every once in a while I will see someone who looks like you did and it makes me sad. I try to imagine what you would be like at eighteen. I will do something next month in honor of you my beautiful Boy. You are always in my heart. I love you forever and ever.

“ To My Dear Son, Well Mackinsey time is ticking, soon October 24th will be here. It's so weird to think you will be gone for FOUR YEARS; where does the time go. One day that number will be greater than the little fourteen years you were alive. How I hate to see that day come. Jose has called, Kenny stopped by, it's nice they still think of us. My son how I wish we could do it all over again; I long to see you. I don't know why I can't dream of you nor can I explain why you have not made your presence to me; but I wait. I wait for the day! I love you Mackinsey and if there is that place and you're waiting just know I will be there one day and once again we can be together. I am so blessed to have had you in my life. “ Dear Mackinsey. Thinking about you a lot lately, and how fast time is going. When I think about the 4 years that are almost here since you left us it is hard to believe. It is funny that of all the time we all use to spend at Red hot and Boom that this was the first time in a while that I went this year and thought about you being there with me but now that I know your mom and Shawn were there too I think you must have had something to do with it. You must have brought us there for a reason. As loving as you were here on this earth I know you are always watching over all of us and you want us to know that. As always I am so grateful to have been your father and love you forever.

“ Hello My Son, Hope my note finds you well. It's been awhile since I've written. Boy how time flies. I see Nana wrote on the CaringBridge and told you about putting the house up for sale. It is so weird, the whole time they were up in PA we were over there and I just kept thinking about someone buying their house and living in it. It is very sad, and emotional to think that will be happening. The 4th of July has come and gone, and I was hoping you heard the big booms from Cranes Roost. Remember how you liked going up there with your friends. This is the first year since we been in the house that we went up and saw them. Mackinsey how I wished you were here watching them with us. I remember too how you and Shawn would set off all those fireworks. All that money up in the air I would say and now I'm so glad you guys did it. It's just money, it's not a life. Well my son take care, hope you're out there somewhere; somewhere were we will be seeing each other down the road. Come visit me sometime in a dream, I'd love to see you. “ Good morning son. This will be the 4th Father's Day for me without you here. I wish I could say it gets easier but this has been a tough week for me. Even the parents at my group meeting were thinking about me and Fathers Day coming up. Still hard to believe you are not here anymore. I imagine it will always feel that way to me. The only peace I have is that you are not suffering anymore and you are in the most beautiful place there is. When I dream of you it is like real life to me and I am grateful for that. I know you are proud of me for heading down south for vacation. Same places we use to hang out at. It was hard to do at first but I know in some way you were there with me. I will honor you everyday in what I do and say the rest of my life.

“ Good Morning Mackinsey and Happy Thanksgiving, Sure did miss having you in the kitchen last night, while preparing for the meal today. Today is the day you are suppose to be thankful, but as we all know, our story is bitter sweet. Very bitter for how you were stolen from us at such a young age of 14, with so much more to experience in life. How I wanted you to be able to enjoy all of life's ups and downs as you grew into a man, and me - your mom, right there by your side, through it all. Then of course the sweet, the sweet is the wonderful, enjoyable, memories and laughs we had throughout your short little life. I am SO thankful I have those memories to fall back on. So my son, as I type these words, the tears are fallen, they have never stopped - just shortened in between. So know if I had it all over to do again, knowing that you would be gone at the age of 14, I would not trade that experience of being your mom for NOTHING IN THE WORLD.

“ Dear Mackinsey. It is an anniversary that I wish we didn't have to have but unfortunately we do. Three years and I still do not understand it. All I know is it is as hard today as it was three years ago. Even though your mom and I haven't talked to each other since the funeral I can see that we both feel the same way when it comes to you. We were pretty lucky to have you as our own and I can tell you that I always knew you were ours. You brought so much joy into our lives. It was a wonderful life that seems like it wasn't real but I know I will hold it close to my heart forever. I will hold you in my heart forever and never forget how much you brought into my life. I know I will see you again my son.

“ Well my son, this is THE DAY. The day which marks THREE years of your passing. Mackinsey I can only hope that this better place does exist and you are there waiting on the rest of us. I am having a harder morning than I thought as for the most part overall I believe sometimes I am made of stone; and I can't understand why. But I do remember on those days leading up to 10/24/11 - 9:41 a.m. I had many many many horrible days and nights of uncontrollable crying and not being able to catch my breath. So maybe for me the harder times was after Make a Wish stepped in and my days of hoping for you to beat this horrible cancer started diminishing. But on the brighter side you brought me so many days of enjoyment just being able to be your mom. I am so thankful that we were able to adopt you and love you like our own. I am also thankful we were not able to have children together and therefore you made that GRAND appearance in our lives. I will never ever forget that day going to the attorneys office with an empty car seat and coming home with a little bundle of Mackinsey sitting next to me in his car seat. For you hardly filled it up; you were so small. I have been thinking about contacting your dad as I hear he is going through a depression. But honestly don't know if that would make it better or worst - as I only want the best for him. So my son on this third anniversary be whole, be happy, and be looking down on us. I hope you can see us and can remember all the times we had together and one day we can all be together. I miss you like CRAZY, think of you ALWAYS and love you more with each passing day. Love Always, Mom

“ My Beautiful boy,
Hard to believe you would be a senior today if you were still on this earth with us. I always try to imagine what you would look like at seventeen. How tall you would be. How handsome too. I bet you would still be that kind and loving young boy that I remember just bigger. Unfortunately all I can do now is dream about what could have been. Maybe you saw your friends today as they started their journey to becoming adults. I will never get to see that with you but I still will try to imagine what it would be like and always hold on to those precious memories that I have with you my son.
I love you forever Mackinsey.

“ Well son, like I said last month time is flying. Today marks 2 years and 9 months since you left us. Mackinsey I love you so much, talk to you so often and I am still waiting for my sign. I only wish I took more pictures of you. It seems the older you got the less I took pictures. So now all I have left our memories, some pictures and video of you when you were a lot smaller. I am working on having them all put on CD's for the family. If I would have known you were actually going to die, I would have taken more time off of work and spent it with you. Rather than taking the last six weeks of your life off. I had so many hopes and dreams and I actually thought you could really beat this. I missed out on so much time with you, time I will NEVER get back!! All those nights I went into bed early and left you up watching television alone, how stupid of me. Those nights were stolen from me and how we could have spent more time together, just you and I. For how I enjoyed our alone time, we didn't have much of it but it was so very special to me and how I long for those days again. So my son on this 2 year and 9 month day I send you all my love, to the sky and back honey. Never, ever ever forget how much your mother loves you and misses you. Life has not been the same without you.

“ My Dear Mackinsey, Yes it sure has been 2 and 1/2 LONG years since you laid on that bed out in the family room and died before our eyes. I was always so hoping that you would be one of the miracles. How I prayed for that miracle; but my prayers went unanswered. I still don't and will never understand this. It is so huge, and at times even though I know you're gone, it just doesn't seem possible that this has happened. Everything in your room is exactly the same and Zeplin is doing well. Yeah you better be laughing, I told you I never wanted a snake in this house and look now who's raising it. I do hope you can see us from up there and see how things are going and I hope you are proud of all of us because we all try so hard. So my dear son be whole, be happy and my only regret is I never had the chance to say good bye to you. So I close now sending you all my love today and always, to the sky and back. Love, Mom

I had to look twice but there was a boy with his friends and maybe it was just for me but he had your face your mannerisms and your voice. Even your glasses. “ *To Mackinsey's Family,
I have such fond memories as Mackinsey's sixth grade language arts teacher. I will always remember his bright smile and happy-go-lucky demeanor. He was a joy to have and class; a young man whom I will never forget. May the joy he gave us all in life sustain your family through this difficult time.

“ I did not know Mackinsey that well, but saw him at the Elks with his family. He was an inspiration to all of us, because every time I saw him he was smiling and very helpful. He is an Angel in heaven, and he will be looking over his loved ones for all eternity.

My prayers will be with his family and for him.

“ My heart is broken for your beloved Mackinsey. Although I did not know him, as a mother, a Brantley staff member and a football parent and a cancer patient, I have been praying for Mackinsey. He is always in my thoughts. I wear his bracelet proudly as my son wears his initials on his helmet, I so wanted to attend his service, to be there for you but I was unable. Now there is another angel in heaven who is there watching over his loved ones.

When I lost my sister a few years ago I found a poem that helped me deal with my grief. It mean more to me than anything I read in a prayer book because it spoke to my heart. I would like to share it with you.

*Do not stand at my grave and weep,
I am not there; I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow,
I am the diamond glints on snow,
I am the sun on ripened grain,
I am the gentle autumn rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush
I am the swift uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in circling flight.
I am the soft starlight at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there; I did not die.*

“ *Mackinsey,
I can't believe you are gone. You are an amazing young man, your smile lit up a room the minute it was entered. It was an honor and privilege to have known you and been able to care for you over these last years. I am a better person because of you, I will miss you and remember you always.*

*Jayme, Sean and Bill, Thank you for sharing your incredible young man with us. His character and honor is a reflection of your parenting. The lives that have been changed because of your son are too numerous to count. Please know that you are in my thoughts and prayers during this difficult time.

“ Mackinsey waged a brave battle against the disease that took his life. He never wanted any one to feel sorry for him. I never heard him complain. He was as brave as any soldier. And to all the young men and ladies that gave him comfort and friendship, thank you.

He was a hero to me. May God rest your soul.

were always so positive and bright spirited!
Cancer is a terrible thing and it takes the lives of many innocent people. Just know that every single person in your life loves and deeeeeeeely misses you very much. As for Mackinsey's family, stay strong through the struggle. as, mackinsey is shining down and is next to us all right

“ To my wonderful Grandson Mackinsey, whose laughter was infectious, his insight beyond words and he was my friend, my Buddy and a joy to be with. We will miss him terribly. We always went to lunch, watched movies or I watched him play video games. Just talking to him was a joy. He never ceased to amaze me as to how he could figure something out. Mackinsey this two years I wouldn't have traded with for anything. Each time I spent with you was awesome. I'll miss that, but I didn't like watching you hurt and now you are pain free. You will stay in my heart and mind forever. We love you and the hole in our hearts cannot be filled. Love Nana & Poppy

“ To the beloved Constantine Family:

During these moments when you are sorrowful, look again in your heart and you shall see that in truth you are weeping for that which has been your delight! I know right now it may be difficult to see the love that surrounds you, but there are Angels near to those who are grieving to whisper to you that your loved one Mackinsey is safe in the hands of God. May the blessings of love be upon this family, May this peace abide with each and every one of you & May it's essence illuminate your hearts!

“ *Mackinsey was a beautiful child blessed with parents that loved and adored him.
I remember him coming with his dad to get a haircut and always having a cup of coffee, even when he was little. His favorite flavor was Barnies German Chocolate Cake. He was a happy and loved little boy. He would tell me about fishing with his Aunt. He loved his family who I know loved him very much. Jayme and Bill, I'm so sad for your loss. You were wonderful parents. I will miss McKinsey very much. I pray you find peace and comfort in the knowledge that your child knew how special and loved he was.

“ Jayme, I could not believe the e-mail I received this morning, from Linda Steigerwald. Not being aware that your son, Mackinsey, was ill, let alone fighting bone cancer, made this e-mail all the more shocking. I remember him being an adorable, chubby, little boy. Of course, I remember you being a first-time mom. Mackinsey's passing was all too soon. Please know that you and yours are in my thoughts at this time.

“ Bill and Jayme, although we have never met, we truly feel like we know you. It has been a blessing and honor to be a part of Mackinsey's journey. He has touched so many lives, even all the way up here in Pittsburgh. God has used him in some amazing ways and STILL IS, what an inspiration he has been to all of us. You will continue to be in our thoughts and prayers. Phil. 4:7 " And the peace of God, which passes all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." Stay strong in the Lord and the strength of His might.

“ I worked with this young man's father for a time in Orlando. I found both of these gentlemen to have a delightful spirit, and charismatic positive energy that made them easy to love. As a father, it breaks my heart to see this young life end, but I am thankful to God that his suffering is over, and that all of us were blessed to know him and the smiles he gave us all. Ours is a better world for knowing this family and especially Mackinsey. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to share. God bless you all.

“ William and Jayme, I offer my deepest sympathies to your entire family. Mackinsey passed away too soon. I'm sure that pains your hearts. The God of all comfort will sustain you during this difficult time. Rev. 21:4 tells us that one day soon God "will wipe every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore." We all look forward to that time. May his memories warm your hearts until then.

Dearest Mackinsey, I'm saddened that you were needed in heaven so soon. I know you are now free of pain and you are enjoying your new life watching over all of us. Please let your family know you are still with them, and always will be. I know that will bring them some comfort while they try to understand how their life will be forever changed now. I don't know if you know just how many lives you have touched during your battle, and how many lives are now forever changed just because they met you! You were such a strong, brave young man and knowing your family, they played such a strong role in that. I know you are at peace now, and my prayers are now with your family, that they will soon be able to take comfort in knowing you will always be with them, in heart, soul and spirit.

Jayme, Bill, Shawn, Carol & Bill, you are in my thoughts and prayers, and I hope you will find peace and comfort in the wonderful memories you have of Mackinsey. Know he is with you always!
