“ I have the best picture of your Mom, Sheryll----at my wedding in 1969. She was in pink and looked beautiful! She and I were laughing hysterically! When I find the picture, which may take a while--I shall send it to your family in FL.

I can sill remember "looking up to her" as she was 10 years older than I and sang "Mockingbird Hill" to Jer and me over and over again. We kept asking her to sing!!!---and she would---over and over again.

Such grace----such a wonderful lady. Love, Gloria

“ I remember Ms. Swift's Christmas cookies. Can't find them anywhere anymore. She taught Pepper, the talking parrot how to say Michael. She would call her son Michael, and Pepper was outside and picked up her voice.

She was an angel while she was with us, and still is with Jesus.

Miss you Ms. Swift

“ I remember when you were in the kitchen cooking. That will always be the way I remember you, cooking holiday meals, feeding everyone all the time. You always loved a house full of people at the holidays
I love you meemaw and I always will.
