“ Life is a gift we are blessed with to enjoy living as if it were our last because tomorrow isn't promised. But Grandma you had 91 years of tomorrow's. :) You lived a beautiful life until the health issues started later in life. But you proved to be a warrior I could never be. Now you can rest in paradise because they say that is where a new life begins. No pain, no restrictions. I believe God has rejuvenated you and you are happy now. Until we meet again at the crossroads one day, I won't say goodbye. I will say, see you again one day. Love you. Bendición.

“ Life is a gift and to be lived enjoying every day as if it were your last because tomorrow isn't promised. But Grandma you were blessed to see 91 tomorrow's. And although at the end you suffered with health issues you were still the warrior I could never see myself to be. I don't know how you fought as much as you did. God bless you. May you rest in paradise for they say that's the real beginning to a new life. Till we meet again at the crossroads. :-) Love you.

“ Mom you were the greatest and bravest Mom in the world. You ruled your roost with a very strong hand and at the same time with much love for all your family members. Things were tough for you many a times, financially, physically and emotionally you survived it all except this last battle. I will always love you and I miss you more than anyone can imagine. You go rest in your beautiful Island. RIP Mom. Love always from your 1st born Iri.
