“ Pa, when we first met, I knew you were kind, caring, smart, funny, discerning and much more. All the things that makes a person likable. You could say something and make it sound like it was the most serious subject, just for you to turn around and laugh because you were joking. You always know when to give advice, and always know when to listen. You know how to give someone that extra bit of wisdom, that makes them understand, or explain things that made difficult problems seem easy. You have been that shoulder to lean on, and that person to depend on. Always ready when you say, and finished when you were done. These qualities not only make you likable, they make you lovable. I love you like a second father, and I am deeply honored that I got to spend time with you. I know I am deeply saddened and the hole that is there will not be filled, but I will take the pain because I got to know you.
