“ where do I begin well Peter may of been across the ocean but he was always in our thoughts and conversations everytime spurs played we would wonder what he would be saying about the match, The last time we saw you was the hardest ever we knew how ill you was and knew that without saying the words we had to say goodbye that was the hardest day but your smile is what I will always remember and how proud you was of your boys you will always be in our thoughts RIP Jen and family

“ So many memories. I don't know where to begin. The first time I flew to England, I was met by his brother and of course Peter. I was over the moon to be reunited with him again, since he had to leave for London without me. It was my first trip to Europe. He got a kick on how excited I was, and couldn't wait for me to meet his mum.

“ Peter was my my first and only true love. I have never forgotten him.. I remember how much he loved rhis involment in acing so much, and his beloved Tottenham Hot Spurs. I remember our time in England,, when he took me to all his special places in Europe, like it was yesterday. Particularly , Venice and Paris. Peter had an unnventional way of thinking and values. I thought he was brilliant. When he left to go racing, I missed him terribly. Sometimes I think I loved ihm too much. The hardesr thing I had to do was walk away from him that bright sunny day, at the garage where he was working all those years ago. He told me about Debra , before he married, and I revealed that I was engaged to be married.

Peter, wherever you may be , in Heaven or elsewhere, that I never stopped looking for you. Little did I know, you were a few miles from me. When I received your letter, you revealed that I was never far from your thoughts. I was overjoyed that you were looking for me as well. Our conversations on the phone, and the few times we met for tea was a jpy.

I hope that you were not in too much pain, and left this world in peace.

My sincere condolences to his family: Doris, his mum, Ian his brother, and his sons, who he was so very proud of.

“ My Dear son Peter. How does a Mum express her love for her son, you with Ian have always been my life and always will be. I will never stop loving you and my thoughts of you will never cease. I can not imagine how Spurs will cope without you cheering them on. I can remember when Dad bought you your first Spurs soccer kit, he had to stuff the boots with cotton wool so that they fit. My memories of the times we had together I will always treasure. Rest in peace Peter, no more pain. With much love Mum xx

“ Hey Brother, I lost you far too early and far too young. For 30 years or so we have been separated by many miles but we remained close, and beyond our childhood years we never argued or had bad words to say to each other. I will never go to watch Tottenham without thinking of you, it was such a passion in your life. I will look after Mum and stay close to your wonderful family. We were never embarrassed to say 'I love you Brother', so indeed I love you Brother.

“ My family would like to send sincere condolences to the Norris family for the loss of your dear loved one. May you find comfort and hope from the Bible promise at Isaiah 25:8. Pray constantly, avoid isolation, and lean on God as you cope during this most difficult time.
