“Phil was a great guy! Hard working man! Always a pleasure to be around. I enjoyed his jokes, his laughs, great father to his kids!”

Phil Jr. is my best friend! We have been friends for a long time since middle school. I remember when I first met Big Phil, he was one of those dads that you was able to feel comfortable to be around with. He wanted to see his son around other deaf peers. He got to experience to learn more signs as he watched us communicate with our hands. The more he watched the more he learned. It was great times seeing him at the Gallaudet games. Sitting with him and watching Phil Jr play on the field. He was a proud father!

I just want to share just a small little story about how sometimes me and Phil Jr would catch up and look back at memories from our time in HS. I believe his favorite memory with his dad from what I can remember is he would always talk about how every Saturday or maybe every other Saturday, that Phil Jr. he would sleep on “The Couch” and big Phil would come home open the door, before he even showed Phil Jr, Phil would wake up from the couch, Big Phil would shake this bag with McDonalds inside. It put a huge smile on his face and they would just talk about anything! and eat together.

Sometimes he would tease him. There would be a McDonald bag, but nothing in it.

It was a hysterical story. Still a found memory to remember to this day and still makes me laugh.

I am deeply saddened about Big Phil. You are missed but not forgotten. Rest In Peace!

“ Joanne, Phillip and The Endicott family

*We were so saddened to hear of Phil's passing. So many wonderful years as friends. I met Phil 37 years ago, I knew the moment we met we would be long term friends. I admired him on so many levels he was always the calmer he would always be the one to calm a situation. We had many big projects to work on and he was always willing to do what had to be done. He worked way to hard. I told him often. He loved his wife and family we talked about them all the time over lunch. He praised his daughter Joanne all the time on her parenting and working to hard. He praised Phillip on all his endeavors he was so very proud of them. His grandchildren made him smile. We talked about his beautiful wife Joanne and how he missed her so. I did get the chance to meet his siblings once in Florida. We met for lunch at the Hard Rock. It was a lovely time. My memories of Phil are many we laughed a lot, I will miss those times. He was warm, generous, loving and the gentlest man I ever met. I will miss you my friend.
I am so honored to call you "friend"
Rest In Peace and know that I will see you again.*
