“ It is hard to believe that it has been almost a year since your passing. I sit in front of my computer looking at you obituary and reading over and over again the kind words from family, friends and other people that have known you over the years. I have a lot of fond memories of us growing up including the times we walked back and forth to St Henry's grade school after our mom passed away. We were wondering what was instore for us and what the future had in mind for us. As the family got older we all eventually moved away from home and the old neighborhood relocating to different areas to continue building on our lives. We all tried to stay in touch with each other sometimes not as often as we would have liked to. It is still hard to believe that you, Rick, the youngest of us six passed away. I am glad that I was able to spend your last remaining days with you talking about the good ole days until the very end when God called you home. I am sure Mom, Dad, my daughter Geralyn, John, and all of your friends and acquaintances welcomed you home. Check in on Kim when you can. Until we meet again. Love, Bill

“ Rich, I am so heartbroken by your passing. So many wonderful memories of all of us back in the Pennsylvania years. Then all the Florida hurricanes in 2004 you and Kim kiddingly blamed me for bringing when I moved to Orlando.

My mother recently went to heaven and I know she will be looking for you. She loved your talk's and really enjoyed herself when we all went to Disney together.

I am finding some comfort that you and David Urban can now get all caught up with everything since his passing.

I'll never forget what a wonderful person you were to us. 🙏

“ Rick, So sudden and so sad. I am thankful that you called me and we were able to speak brother to brother one last time. I still cannot believe that you are gone. I have always had a great respect for you. The way that you carried yourself always calm and kind a true gentleman. And that smile. I know that you are at peace with Mom and Dad and John helping to guide your way. I know that you will be looking out for Kim always by her side. Rest in peace my brother. I love you!

“ Rick, I still can't believe that you are gone...things happened way to quick...you are in good company... Dad, mom, Aunt Marge and of course John... Many, many memories of our younger years the picnics on special holidays and picnics in the park on what we called islands quick was a small piece of ground in the park where the road split... While we all had our personalities growing up you were the sweetest... I know that you loved coming up and visiting both John and I and he taught you to drive and helped you get your license and fishing with him too...you helped me to get over my fear of pumping my own gas... I will miss you every day until we meet again...watch over Kim and leave her signs and talk to her like John does with me... Even though you are gone we will always be the 6 pack... Love you, Marge “ Rich's cubicle was right outside my office for several years and I had the pleasure of getting to know and chat with him. He was such a positive presence - everything from confirming for us when their was a full moon to participating in (and winning!) the Christmas Ugly sweater contest. We will miss you Rich!
