“ Ryan was the person you saw and greeted you when you entered Dr. Oliveros' office. When you came to the office you knew Ryan would be there to welcome you and help, it was in her nature to care. She fit into the office personality, they just nice caring people. Extremely sorry to hear of her passing. One thing is for sure she is in heaven looking down on those who she loved and took care of. She will be missed.... she was a good soul. To Ryan's parents know you did a remarkable job raising such a good person.

“ I didn't hear about Ryan's passing until my most recent visit to Dr. Oliveros' office. Although I knew Ryan only through my interactions with the office, I was shocked and saddened by the news. She always had a smile and words of encouragement and support to offer, which is so critical in a practice that serves people who often arrive feeling their worst. Her empathy and care made a difference to so many people, and her absence in the office is almost palpable. It's clear how much she is missed by her "work family" and I offer my condolences and prayers to them as well as all of Ryan's family and friends.

“ Ryan was so very loved by many. I met Ryan when her and I worked together at Innie Palmer Hospital. Always smiling and soooo full of life. I can't ever remember saying a bad thing about anyone. She was a wonderful nurse who cared deeply about her patients as well as her colleagues. She will forever be missed. Rest in peace Ryan in God's loving arms my dear sweet friend. “ I will always remember the first time I called Dr. Oliveros's office, I was very stressed out after having been seen by a series of doctors over the years that were not treating me according to what would be in my best interest as a chronic pain patient. Ryan was the first person I spoke to when I called to set up an appointment, and she listened to every concern I had (which was probably not easy to do through my tears of frustration over previous doctors). She answered every question I had with such great empathy for my situation, making me more relaxed about coming in for my first visit with a new doctor. My condolences to Ryan's family, as well as, the office family she spent so much time with helping people. My thoughts remain with you all. Blessings!!

“ I am absolutely shocked to hear today of Ryan's passing from Dr. Oliveros and staff where she worked and I had the pleasure of meeting her. We talked about our mutual love of animals, and laughed about things we had in common. She always made the patient feel that they were the most important thing and she sincerely cared about their well-being. God bless her family and I'm truly grateful that I met Ryan and had the privilege of spending time with her. Sincerely Lori

“ Ryan was such a beautiful woman, inside and out. So intelligent and always ready to assist. If Ryan didn't know the answer immediately to my question, she would do the research and get back to me asap. Her warm smile and gentle wit always made the day seem better no matter what the patient was facing. Ryan's caring personality fit into the Dr. Oliveros family and practice immediately. My prayers and love go out to her family and to the Dr. Oliveros family. We are all in shock to have lost such a wonderful, beautiful person in this life. We must take comfort in knowing that she is in the mighty Hands of our Great and Loving God. May we meditate and reflect on her life, the kindness, generosity and love she brought to everyone that came in contact with her. God bless you Ryan!

“ After Ryan and I became friends in 2005, we started hanging out very often on our days off together. Ryan practically became my other roommate.. when I told her my dream was to do travel nursing and I would be leaving soon, she got mad at me! I told her to “come with me then!” She said ok, and that was that... off we went for the most adventurous 1.5 years of my life! I will always treasure her wisdom in nursing and our super fun times together travel nursing and vacationing! Rest in peace my sweet friend.
