“ I was shocked to find that Susan had died. A more warm and wonderful person cannot be found, and I enjoyed hanging out with her and John socially. Professionally, she was a tireless advocate for the Children of Orange County; passing up much more lucrative opportunities to continue her work protecting children. There’s no doubt her death leaves an insurmountable chasm. I long ago left Orlando, and in 2019 I retired in Bogotá, Colombia, but I was melancholy looking back on my time in Orlando and was shocked to hear the news. I’m so very sorry she didn’t have a chance to enjoy her retirement with John. This was an insurmountable loss for the community, the end of an era. .

“ I found this devastating news in a "Whatever happened to..." search, but I just cannot comprehend it. I met Susan when she and I sat in adjacent seats in Mr. Hazen's pre-calculus class at Jacksonville Episcopal High School back in 1975. She was such a charming, kind person. I am not surprised at all that she spent her life helping others. Our friendship is my fondest memory of high school.

“ I knew Susan both personally (through her husband and my physical trainer and friend, John Dickson) and professionally through her dedicated and heroic activities on behalf of children in Legal Aid. She was brilliant and strategic in her thinking of how to help children. I often urged her to consider applying for appointment or running for judge. But, she repeatedly told me how much she loved doing her job. And it showed. She was equally devoted to her family and often told me how much she loved John and the children. Susan was a bright light in our lives and in her profession. To say she will be missed is a colossal understatement.
