“ Dr.Swaminathan Valliappan

We both almost of same age,hailed from the same community in India; we often discussed our heritage both positive and negative aspects we encountered while giving each other the requisite philosophical perspective to keep us moving forward. Be as it may, he is an individual with deep rooted personal commitment to establishing our religious foundation in the US as evidenced by his spearheading of the Pittsburgh Temple.

Besides he is quite a caring person who in spite of his poor health, he and his beloved wife Nachal Achi, both recently drove down twice to see us saying we were alone. Just last week when we saw him he was truly concerned about Achi's health although he was in and out of the hospital

*May God bless his soul to rest in peace
We both will truly miss him.*

“ I have known Dr. S. Valliappan since his high school days in Sri Lanka. After many decades, I met him in Florida last year. He was still the kind and gentle person he was back in high school. He shared many interesting stories of his early days in the U.S. He will be greatly missed, and our heartfelt sympathies go to Nachal and family. May his soul rest in peace.
