“ Tommy,

Today, I suddenly decided to look you up online, and extremely sadden to find out you have passed away. To the Tommy's family: He might not have gone by Tommy in years, but that is how I knew him. We were childhood friends. We lived next store to each other in Westfield on Joseph Ave. To this day when asked how I became a Yankee fan growing up in MA, I tell them that "I had friend who lived next store, and he was a big brother to me (I have 3 sisters), he was a Yankee fan, so I became a Yankee fan.

He was 3 years older than me. He taught me how to place baseball, I was lefty and he was right handed. He hit right handed, so I learned to hit right handed. I also learned football and basketball from him.

His family moved to Falmouth I believe when he was 12 or 13 years old. The neighborhood was never the same for me. I remember always be confident when he was around.

The last time I saw him was in 1974. My family moved to Acton, MA, and he a Michael Vail, and Bob Nomakeo came to see me.

After reading the other tributes to him, I am not surprised that what I felt and experienced from him carried on throughout his life.

My God bless you. Rest in Peace.

“ When my family moved to the Cape, Tom and I became close friends and he helped me navigate a new high school and a new group of friends - of course he knew everybody like they were lifelong friends. Through high school, working for his father at Falmouth Dodge, and then as roommates in college, I enjoyed my cousin so much, and miss him dearly. I am glad I got to visit with Tom and Bob in Orlando not too long ago. My condolences to Jonny and Josh, and all of my other cousins and their families.

“ Tom and I were near lifelong best friends who shared so much during the time we’d known each other. From newspaper routes, running track (he was a champion sprinter), getting into trouble, playing golf, attending MLB games around the country, and too much else to address in this space, Tom was a special guy who couldn’t help but leave a positive impression. Aside from the shared memories, what stands out most is that Biz was the kind of man who would be the first to step to the plate if you needed help. His selflessness, willingness to assist others in need, and penchant for saying the right thing at the right time were all attributes that so identified him as a special person. Despite the distance in miles and the infrequency in which we saw each other over the years, the times we did manage to get together were seamless; we would fall right into step like we hadn’t spent more than a day apart. Whether it was about politics, the market, family or retirement, the conversation just flowed, often punctuated with beaming smiles and hearty laughs, as noted by many others in these deserving tributes. I treasured those times and will sorely miss that camaraderie.

My heart goes out to you Jonnie and Josh, and to Linda, Bob, Mike, Joanne and Beth.

Too soon, Biz, too soon. When our spirits join again, we’ll definitely renew our yearly debates about the prospects of the Red Sox and Yankees and who will be in first! Love ya, man!

“ Jonnie, I am so sorry & shocked to hear of Tom's passing. Tom, Bruce & I were so close in our "Holler Days" our nickname was the "Killer B's"...the good ole days. I remember when he first met you. You would watch a football game & record 2 more...always keeping him updated on the scores as we worked our crazy hours. Bruce & I teased him....you gotta marry this girl...who does that? His mind was already made up to do just that, without our prodding. The world is a better place because of his magnetic personality & forever friendships. I know he had a whole new group of Real Estate friends but just know that "All of us Holler Peeps" loved and adored him. Rest in peace our friend.

“ Just like your clients you always made me feel important and special. This is a unique quality you had and I will never forget it and always seek to model it. You kept me updated on changes in the market after the '07 downturn. You taught me then as much or more than I taught you when you were my mentee. I am really going to miss you buddy. I know we will see each other one day in heaven.....

Thanks for never being too busy to talk.

“ I am so sorry for your loss ... My company was a client of Tom's when he owned the coffee/snack/soda delivery business. He always had a great sense of humor. And, we continued to be friends even after we both left those companies. He loved baseball and coaching his son when he was young. I'll be keeping your family in my thoughts and prayers ... Pennisu
