“ Mrs. Durohom was a co-worker of my mother at Development Bank of the Philippines. She and I never met each other in person, but her name with an address in Burke, Virginia, was listed in my personal phone book. When my own family and I immigrated to Canada in the early 1990s, I decided to write her. We exchanged Christmas cards for a few years. Then it stopped. I think she moved. I also did.

Today, I got hold of that old phone book and decided to track down those on the list through Facebook and Google. It's nearly three years since her passing, but I know it's never too late to extend my deep sympathy to her family for their loss. It saddened me to find her on this site. May Mrs. Trining Durohom's soul rest in eternal peace.

“ Tita Trining, we love you very much! You have never stopped caring for our family from taking care of kambal when they were still babies. You loved Daddy so much as well as all of your siblings. This is your legacy to us, that as siblings, we should love & forgive each other no matter what our differences are. Tita, rest in peace, there'll be no more tears and no more sorrow to where you're going. We celebrate your life that you shared w/ us and we believe heaven is rejoicing most especially when you accepted Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior.
