“ I first met Vic and Joan many years ago at the Orange Audubon Society meetings when Vic joined the OAS Board of Directors and served as Field Trips Chair. Vic had an innovative spirit and introduced us to some new and fun nature expeditions. From that point on, I enjoyed a friendship with Vic and Joan that included not only dozens of nature explorations and photography outings over the years, but also the more traditional get togethers - going to movies, sampling different restaurants, meeting for coffee and concerts, and long phone conversations about the latest photo gadgets.

I miss you Vic! Rest in Peace. Joan, you (and Vic) are in my prayers.

“ Will remember Vic when he would accompany Joan to the retired coworkers lunches every month. Always soft spoken and friendly even while he was having medical issues. My condolences and prayers to the family. Marc and Lela Diaz “ Although I only met Victor by Zooming with him during First Men meetings on Sunday's during the last year I enjoyed our brief conversations. He recently recited a poem he had written to the rhythm of Vera Lynn's "We'll Meet Again". Hoping to meet and catch up "don't know when, don't know where, but someday".

Condolences and prayers to all the family.

“ I knew Victor best as a young child in Miami. His father Kenneth was my uncle. Victor and Rosemary were my contemporaries and playmates. About a week before Victor passed I sent a photo with our entire family at a picnic. It brought back fond memories of all that were there.

Victor and Joan are in our prayers and thoughts.

“ We met Victor when he visited Sydney on R&R from Vietnam. He was the only US soldier of the many my parents hosted, to stay in contact with us after his return to USA. Victor became part of our family and we treasured his friendship. He always remembered birthdays and sent wonderful newsy letters and emails. His handwriting was amazing!

We were delighted to meet Joan after she married Victor and she and Victor were wonderful hosts to us during our visit to Orlando in 2010.

Victor will truly be missed by all our family. He was a wonderful caring friend. May he Rest In Peace.
