“ Jo-Anna Moore - Niece posted a condolence Uncle Walter was a wonderfully warm, thoughtful, kind, and generous person, mindful of everyone's birthdays and celebrations without fail. He had an amazing memory for details about new children or new living circumstances in one's family and he led a robust younger life in the armed forces (the photos from India are delightful!)and also as a sportsman (fishing and hunting and staying active in many ways) as he and Aunt Ida-Mae raised their two sons. Walt kept a calm demeanor and always inquired about others' well-being, downplaying references to his own. My mother Anne (Walt's sister)often made what she reported as Walter's favorite dessert, their mother's recipe for banana pie. I am grateful that Walter lived for nine decades in this world, offering us all a model of gentle caring. We will miss Walt and our annual chat from the family reunion. We send condolences to Scott and Mark and their loved ones at this time of saying good-bye.

“ john cole - friend posted a condolence I met Walter and Ida Mae (and Cocoa) in 2006. I owned a small store in Kenneth City and they came into buy greeting cards and other misc items. Mainly cards. As the years went on Walter came in alone as Ida Mae didn't get out much. Lots of times he told me he was on his way to his sons house to let the dog out. What a true blessing it was to have these two cross paths with my life. Good Christian people! Nice people! When I closed my store in 2010 Walter started sending me tidbits from the military newspaper that he would get monthly I believe. I know right where both of them are and I intend to see them both again someday. My condolences to the family in your loss. Walter is not here in person but I know he is in your heart. God Bless!

“ Melody Kotakis - extended family posted a condolence Walter "Grandpop" Spear was one-of-a-kind. His kindness, compassion and generosity are but 3 of the words we could use to remember this wonderful man. "They don't make 'um like that anymore." My heart goes out to you Scott, Kelly and Mark, but like you, I know he is dancing with his love, Ida Mae, in Heaven right now. We should celebrate his victory!
