

Wendy Gale Morris

August 30, 1961 - September 7, 2018

Wendy Morris passed away on Friday, September 7, 2018 in Sanford, Florida at the age of 57. Wendy is survived by her siblings, Sandra (Shelley) King, Allyson Morton, Laurie Bromagen, Lesley Gonzales and David (Sonny) Qualls, as well as stepbrother Jason Jones and her beloved aunt, uncles and cousins.

Wendy was born on August 30, 1961 in Orlando, Florida to parents David and Benita Qualls. She spent most of her adult life in Jacksonville, Florida, living near her father and stepmother, Ginger Qualls. After completing her education, Wendy had a long, distinguished career as a mortgage underwriter until she became ill and began her five-year battle with cancer.

Wendy was an amazing, beautiful, kind and giving woman. She was so full of life. She loved spending time with her family and her many beloved friends, who were really more like sisters. She loved the Lord, the beauty of nature, animals and flowers and could often be found in her garden on the weekend, planting some of her favorite flowers: pansies, petunias and snapdragons. Wendy loved life and knew how to appreciate it. It's hard to imagine this world without her.

Wendy has gone home to be with her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ and we look forward to being with her again one day for eternity.

All are welcome to celebrate Wendy's life by visiting her obituary webpage at the below link where you can share memories and post pictures.

“Gone but never forgotten. Wendys smile and care for each and everyone is a blessing. I've always said she had a special individual relationship with each of us and held it close to her heart.

“Wendy has been my dearest friend for over 30 years and we were truly “soul sisters”. I have so many wonderful memories that I will cherish forever. I love her so much and though I know she is in a much better place and is no longer in pain, my heart has a huge hole that will never be filled. Fly free my angel❤️
