“ We loved spending time with Linda and Bill. They often came visiting on their golf cart and he always had a zinger to add to our conversations. After Linda passed he loved to come and chat with us. He loved his cats so much that he often spent Ten minutes picking out the kind of food he was going to buy for them each week at Publix. He had a tender heart and he carried spiders outside if they got into the house. He couldn't bring himself to hurt them. I once witnessed him crawling around on the living room floor catching a lizard to put it safely outside too! What a soft heart. He will be dearly missed.
