“Dad posted a condolence Hunter, Will, Willie, Wilsonart, WIP (Work In Progress), Son,

I called you a lot of different names over the years but son is the one I cherish the most. I'm told this is a forever website so I may write to you once in a while and post some photos.

It was one year ago today, almost to the hour, when you left us. We talk about you all the time and I've thought about you throughout each day for the last year. I'm reminded to try to remember the good times but right now it's the memories of those good times that make me choke up because I miss you so much.

I am grateful for the close relationship we had. You were my best buddy. We hugged every time we saw each other and I felt your love. You always hugged a little longer. We ended every phone call or departure with "I love you".

Mental health-wise, you were dealt some bad cards when you were born and I feel sorry for you. I'll be kicking myself forever because I feel like I spent 80 percent of my time with you trying to shape you into a kind, caring, productive person and 20 percent on your metal disabilities. It should have been the other way around. I'm so sorry son.

Despite some difficult times in your late teens and a tragic ending, Mom and I would still hit that replay button and take you into our family. Your love for us, extended family and close friends was undeniable. You brought us a lot of joy and funny memories. I promise to share some of those memories in the future.

I can still feel the anguish in your last words in your last text "I love you all more than life itself. I'm sorry". Wish I could have been there to hold you tight son and comfort you when you took your life. I know you didn't feel that you always fit in this world but you always fit perfectly in my world. I miss you so much, will continue to think of you daily and will love you forever.

“ Christopher H. Williams - Friend posted a condolence Hunter, you have always held a special place in my heart. We have been friends for years and I am deeply saddened by your passing. As hard as this is for me, I know you are at peace now. I think about all of the good times we had together when we were younger and the talks we used to have. We used to lay out under the stars and talk about life, the universe, and what we wanted to do when we grew up.. I cherish those times we had together because I can honestly say I never had a friend like you. I will always miss you and I hope to one day get the opportunity to give you a hug when I join you in heaven. You will forever be a part of my life and I will never forget you. Always remember that you are loved by so many friends and family. We will all be together one day. God speed Hunter. I love you.
